Please post specific questions in the forums rather than asking questions in here. You're welcome to ask questions in the Newbie or Expert sections. Sep 27, 2008 Travis.R Graduate Student Posts: 112 Loc: Mid-South I appreciate your question, but one of the best things about this forum is its extreme anonymity. You can ask questions without fear of "getting voted down." Now, I'm sure that some people have gotten an education from this site that they would have never gotten if they knew their question was going to be viewed by so many people, so I know that we are not without our shortcomings, but there are many here who are active members that wish to answer questions as a learning experience. Ben717 Posts: 27 Loc: Vancouver, BC Hi Travis! I love this forum, so I'm a fan of the anonymity. You can ask any question you like, without fear of "being voted down" if people don't like what you ask. It's a really great place to ask and learn, no matter what level you are. ben192 Gym Teacher Posts: 151 Loc: Windsor, ON Hi Travis Welcome to these forums. Yes, you can ask any question you like. No-one can tell you what to ask in here and it is as you say; very very anonymous. A really good place to ask any question you like. I didn't mean to come off as someone who felt threatened by the community. I realize that the best way to learn is to ask questions, and to ask questions that I would have asked the original poster to try and determine if their questions had been
