well as the said bargains contract and all of the aforesaid tax, cost, and charges, and for the further investment of the same, and to conform and adapt the same to the Laws of the State of Texas, and to comply fully with all the

Laws of the State of Texas, and the City of Austin, or any ordinance, rule, regulation, or by-law of said City of Austin in force and effect at any time during the term hereof;... and in addition thereto, Developer has the right, when said time arrives, to incorporate the said additions with the said Hotel in conformity with the present or any subsequent zoning regulations and ordinances of the City of Austin, to alter the said premises, to make said improvements and additions, and to make such additions, alterations, and improvements thereto as Developer, in its discretion, may deem necessary or desirable, and to do and perform all of the acts and things which any person is legally entitled to do. [2] A "covenant of further covenants," or a "second phase of covenants," is an additional covenant the parties make to each other, after the first phase has been concluded. In a move that has set the Internet on fire, a Christian blogger has published a three-page flier announcing that she's set to send the collections of 22 states and their 10 largest cities to Goldman Sachs, who will then mail the donations to the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) in Vienna, Austria. The states and cities include Alaska, Arizona, California, Connecticut, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas,

Kentucky, Massachusetts,
Michigan, Minnesota,
Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada,
New Hampshire
