I'm using Params in my Route, and I'm wondering if it's possible to do this: `Route::get('/', function () { $code = $this->input('code'); if ($code == '1') { ... } else { ... } });` I've tried to do this like this: `Route::get('/{code}', function() { $code = $this->params('code'); if ($code == 1) { ... } else { ... } });` But I get this error: `ErrorException in Controller.php line 23: Trying to get property of non-object` So is it possible to pass Params to Route? A: You can read request params in the same way as in any other route: `Route::get('/{code}', function () { $code = $this->request->input('code'); if ($code == '1') { ... } else { ... }`

Semonji is there to represent the late Des Moines civil rights lawyer, Beatrice Kruse, during the hearing on a lawsuit filed against the city. Semonji is seeking $11,000 in damages due to an incident that happened in 2015, when a Des Moines police officer physically restrained Kruse to avoid contact with an animal rescue group she was with. The state Supreme Court heard Kruse's case Tuesday morning to determine whether the Iowa Civil Rights Commission could award Kruse damages. She died in 2016, before the case proceeded. It's hard to find audio plugins of a reasonable price that have a good interface. Not that this one isn't, but it's too basic. This plugin would be great if they had 2 and 4 voice polyphony. Then you could have a 4 voice mono poly plugin. Then instead of going to the advanced tab and selecting from a huge list you could just select your voice and turn it on or off. When you select multiple voices then for the second voice to be poly you would have to select it in the "advanced" tab and it's not an option in the main page. Not that you would want to use it for more than one voice. D.C. has a lot of new restaurants opening this year. Whether you're a fan of architecture or have a sweet tooth, we'll have something for everyone. Here's a quick rundown of four new restaurants in the District this year. Kinship Address: 815 First St. SE, Washington DC 20003 Chef: Michael Shingler Neighborhood: Atlas District Facebook Twitter What It Is: The food here is inspired by Japanese and Peruvian flavors. Why It's Worth Trying: The huge selection of craft brews, cocktails, and wines gives it a friendly neighborhood feel. Bourbon Steak Bar and Raw Bar Address: 2055 14th St. NW, Washington DC 20010 Chef: David Paulino Neighborhood: Adams Morgan Facebook Twitter What It Is: The chef here does great steaks and seafood, but his creations don't always fit the standard steakhouse mold. Why It's Worth Trying: There's always a great cocktail to go with your meal. Two Red Wines Address: 2126 14th St. NW, Washington DC 20009 Chef: Alicia White Neighborhood: Adams Morgan Facebook Twitter What It Is: The food here is made in small batches. That means the portion sizes are often smaller and each plate has a single ingredient
